Army announces plan for housing units here

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Construction of 70 to 100 housing units for enlisted men is planned by the St. Louis Area Support Center here.

According to Col. Robert Fortin, support center commander, the units will be built on 80 acres currently occupied by a helicopter exercise area. The plan was disclosed during a press conference at the Army installation Tuesday.

THE UNITS WILL BE built in a four-plex style, each having three or four bedrooms.

Fortin said the U.S. Army has needed housing for enlisted men in the St. Louis Metropolitan Area for some time. This plan will serve to help ease that shortage.

A possible block in the plan is several groups have expressed interest in acquiring 156 acres at the center. The land could be available to them because it is currently on the General Services Administration excess list.

FORTIN SAID getting the land off the list would allow the helicopter exercise area to be moved onto the 156 acres, thus making space for the housing units.

The 156 acres were put on the availability list by the GSA in 1972. Since that time, the Army has been using the space for warehousing and for tank training for the 55th Training Battalion of the 102nd Army Reserve Command.

FORTIN ALSO noted helicopter training was not part of the Army installation until last year, when the equipment was brought here from St. Louis Downtown-Parks Airport. The move reportedly has saved the Army $1 million per year because of its rent-free status on the local installation.

Fortin said selling the land would disrupt the current air pattern of the helicopter exercises, requiring the operation be moved.

"WHEN TRACT SIX was 'excessed' in the 70s, it was unclear what the installation's mission would be," Fortin said. "Because it had just recently been deactivated as a depot and tract six was not fully

Echols is baffled by need for land

Planned construction for 100 housing units does not impress Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols.

He said children of those moving into the housing will likely attend Granite City schools and will shop at the Post Exchange for clothing and food.

ECHOLS, Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse, and Madison Mayor John Bellico were among a group recently briefed on the Army's plan to construct the housing on land owned by the St. Louis Area Support Center in Granite City.

Echols said he does not think the plan will benefit his city.

ECHOLS SAID HE is against letting the Army retain the land.

"As a local official, I think I would have more input in the plans if there was a private industry going in there than I will with the Army," Echols said.

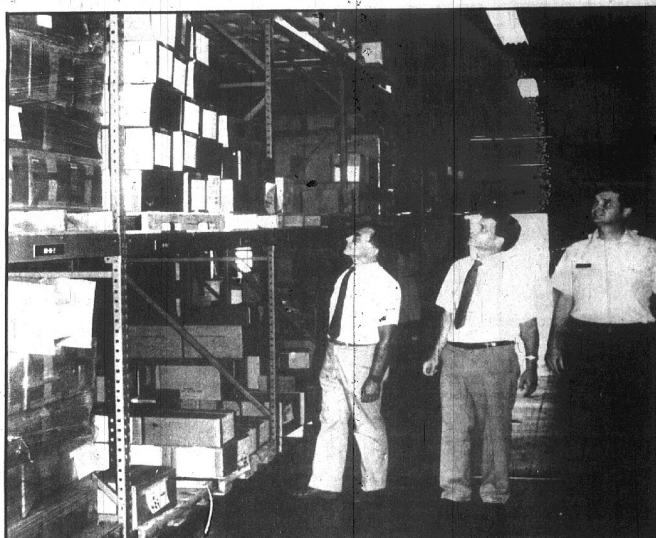

Echols said when the land went on the excess list a lot of Venice people lost jobs and were forced to relocate.

HE SAID THE housing plans by the Army will mean no future jobs for Venice residents.

Echols also said he was not impressed by the tour given by the Army.

GC council sets deadline for short-term sewer break plan

GRANITE CITY — Sewer break problems will have at least a short-term solution by July 23.

City Council members directed city officials to develop the solution at Tuesday's council meeting.

ALDERMAN JAKE Varadian, 5th Ward, said the sewer breaks could be repaired quicker if a plan is stated.

"I sense a lack of communications on what's being done about the sewer breaks," Varadian said. "We need to find out what direction we are going on this thing."

Varadian was referring to engineering work being compiled for the sewer repairs plan.

"IF A NEW sewer system is being recommended, then let the council vote on it," he said. "If gouting is the direction to go, then let's get going on it."

Varadian said because the city does not have a sewer break repair plan, it appears the city is doing nothing about them.

"We are wasting valuable time," Varadian said. "Now is the time to be repairing some of these sewer breaks while the weather is nice."

VARADIAN ALSO asked that the group — composed of Mayor Von Dee Cruse, Assistant to the Mayor Henry Blenick, City Attorney Mark Goldensberg, Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield, Acting City Engineer Ed Schulze and City Comptroller Joe Miklovic — address other problems relating to sewer breaks.

One of the problems concerns funding from the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

According to Miklovic, FEMA gave the city an extension for FEMA funding on the sewer breaks that will run out as of Aug. 1.

MIKLOVIC SAID the city needs to write the FEMA a letter explaining the progress made on sewer breaks thus far and requesting another extension.

Schulze told council members Tuesday, the FEMA advised him the city had a 50-50 chance of getting another extension.

Another problem Varadian wants resolved is the A.J. Davinroy Inc. contract with the city.

THE CITY HAS withheld some payment from the contractor for work he has not completed on sewer breaks. The work includes relocating of residents' property that was damaged in the process of fixing a sewer break.

The city officers will also address a sewer break that has not been repaired, despite it being declared an emergency by aldermen six weeks ago. The break, at Stearns and Boyle is endangering the foundation of a home near the break. The contract was awarded to C.D. Peters Inc.

City forms new class for liquor

By CAROL PATTERSON

For the staff

MADISON — The newly created class C liquor license went into effect at Tuesday night's board meeting.

The license will allow businesses selling food to remain open one hour later based upon volume of sales. Twenty percent of sales must be food items and the yearly sales volume must be $100,000 or more.

The cost of the license will be $2,500. This price compares to the standard license fee of $500.

Nichols upset by airport meeting

By JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA
Executive Editor

GRANITE CITY — "If I were going to buy something, the one person I would talk to would be the seller," said Bill Nichols, owner of Nichols Restricted Landing Area.

Statements made at a meeting of area officials Tuesday to discuss purchasing his airfield upset Nichols. He was not invited to the meeting.

THE GROUP discussed the price of $1.2 million set for the land, to which Nichols responded Wednesday. "I told no one on earth that I raised the price. That's a damned lie and I figure some politician told them that."

At the meeting, Madison Mayor John Bellico suggested calling Nichols to get Nichols to wait at least 90 days on plans to sell the land, which would give area communities time to discuss a possible joint purchase.

But Mary Kane, executive director for the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois, responded, "I would be more than happy to talk with him (Nichols), but I know it won't do any good."

"KANE HAS NEVER talked to me at any time," Nichols said in protest to the comment.

Kane later explained the meeting's purpose was to determine if there is interest from various communities to purchase the airport and that was not something Nichols could answer. If an appraisal is done, then Nichols' input concerning the land would be paramount, she said.

Kane on Wednesday assessed the meeting, saying, "I think there is definite interest in retaining the facility as an airport. Whether or not it is possible is another story."

NICHOLS HAS stated several times he wants to sell the land for $1 million in one parcel, but after 15 years of explaining his situation to local officials, he is tired of waiting for a tangible response.

He said he has to pay up to $62 in taxes each year for each acre of the 150-acre area. He said he is 68 years old and wants to retire. These factors make him want to sell the land and he said if he cannot sell the land for its usefulness as an airfield, he will sell it for commercial use.

Nichols said he prefers to sell the land in one piece rather than sell it in parcels. If sold to an area group, it would be sold in one piece.

AT THE meeting Tuesday, the group decided to contact area communities to determine if they would be interested in sharing the cost of an appraisal study of Nichols' land.

Included in the meeting were Kane, Bellico, Cruse and Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols. Also present was Carl Mathias of the Bi-State Development Agency, which controls St. Louis Downtown-Parks Airport in Cahokia.

Coverage refused by county insurer

By SUSANNE INDELICATO

Staff writer

By Monday, Madison County will either be self-insured against liability or will have another insurance carrier.

The county's current insurer, Governmental Interinsurance Exchange, has refused to extend its liability coverage for the county beyond Monday, July 22. County Director of Administration Jim Monday told the Madison County Board Wednesday. The county had requested a two-month extension.

SO FAR, Monday said, two other insurance companies have declined the county's request for liability insurance.

"It looks like we're in the situation of being self-insured as of Monday or finding other coverage," Monday said.

Should the county decide to self-insure, insurance coverage for excess liability judgments may be obtained, Monday added.

"IF WE CAN'T find excess coverage, we'll be totally self-insured," he said. "But I don't want to leave the board with the impression that being self-insured is bad. It could come out as a better deal to be self-insured."

To self-insure, the county would pay premiums to a reserve fund for liabilities. County taxpayers currently pay a tort liability property tax which covered premiums to the county's previous insurer, Monday said. With self-insurance, those taxes would be put in the reserve fund instead.

An increase in the tort liability tax would depend on the number and amount of liability judgments, he explained.

"THE ONLY TIME they (taxes) would be raised is if the judgments exceed the reserve funds," Monday said.

Governmental Interinsurance Exchange has provided a $1 million liability policy to the county since 1978. Madison County paid a $250,000 annual premium.

GIE and other insurance companies are reluctant to insure the county and other governmental entities, Monday said, because of a

GC trustees try to reslate senior forum

GRANITE CITY — Grievances by senior citizens could be aired at a meeting to be set within the next two weeks by the Granite City Township Board.

Township Supervisor Nellie Hagnauer will be asked by township trustees to discuss concerns some of the seniors have expressed.

A meeting scheduled for last Monday was cancelled when it was learned Hagnauer had a prior engagement.

TRUSTEE JAKE Varadian, 5th Ward, suggested that City Clerk Robert W. Stevens call Hagnauer and set up the meeting. The meeting is contingent on Hagnauer being available sometime during the next two weeks.

Alderman Paul Fisk, 3rd Ward, said he is not against the meeting, but hopes everyone will conduct themselves in an orderly fashion.

Varadian said he has spoken with several seniors about that subject. "I WILL NOT support using any person as a chopping block," he said. "If someone tries to make a fool of someone else at the meeting, I will be the first to motion to end that person's floor time."

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Recently a woman came to this office and indicated that she and her husband were separated. He had moved out of the house several months before and was living with another woman. The three children of the marriage were living with her. In these cases where couples informally separate, questions often arise as to whether the wife has a right to child support and whether she has to allow the father visitation.

In this case, the father was providing no child support and the mother was having difficulty paying her bills. She was allowing him overnight visitation, but she was bothered by the fact that the children were spending the night when his girlfriend was present. She wondered what her rights and obligations were under these circumstances.

With regard to child support when a couple informally separates, the father has no duty to provide support unless there is a Court order requiring him to pay. In this case, the mother would need to petition the Court for temporary support since he had no intention of voluntarily paying money. If she wished to remain married with the hope of later reconciling, it would not be necessary to her to file for divorce in order to receive this Court order for temporary support.

Can she refuse him visitation in this situation? Once again, without a Court order she has no obligation to allow the father to see his children. The real question in this case is whether the father would be granted visitation if he chose to go to Court. Normally a parent will not be denied the right to see his children but the fact that the father is living with another woman without benefit of marriage could mean that he would not be allowed overnight visitation. The Judge's decision would be based on what was in the "best interests of the children."

The lesson to be learned here is that neither the husband nor the wife is obliged to do anything with an informal separation. The advantage to informally separating is that it allows the parties to live apart without the involvement of attorneys or the Courts. If one party is being denied support or visitation, however, it may be necessary to petition the Court for relief.

Parade beginning to jell

By BILL WINTER
Staff writer

Advance planning for the fourth annual (1986 era) local Labor Day parade is progressing well.

That was the message this week from the co-chairmen, Edwin Reiske, Tri-City Trades and Labor Council president, and David J. Kins, president of United Steelworkers of America Local 804. The Granite City High School band is to participate along with many marching groups composed of members of Quad-City area union locals. Floats also are planned, and there will be bands from fraternal organizations.

GRAND MARSHALS are scheduled to be Bob Means and Jim Freeman.

Means was the head of the local United Steelworkers sub-district office until being transferred to the international headquarters in Pittsburgh. Freeman is the Chicago-based director of Region 1 of the AFL-CIO (American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations).

THE 10 A.M. PARADE on Monday, Sept. 2, will begin at Niedringhaus and Edison avenues in downtown Granite City.

The route will be past on Niedringhaus, north on Madison Avenue and west on 28th Street to Wilson Park.

At the park, free soft drinks will be provided by Granite City Steel and free beer will be made available by a group of local businesses, Reiske said.

FOOD WILL BE SOLD at Wilson Park after the parade by OATH (Organization for Advancement of The Handicapped) as a fund-raising venture by that group.

Elected officials are among those being invited to participate in the parade.

The parade committee will present trophies for the float with the best theme, the outstanding marching unit, and the labor organization with the most participants.

AT THE END of the parade, a tug-of-war will be conducted between several labor groups, with special trophies then awarded.

A statement by Reiske and Kins related the "hope that all affiliated labor organizations take an active part in this year's parade."

"This year's parade theme will be 'Day of Solidarity'."

"All interested groups and participants are urged to sign up for the parade by calling 877-4330 or 452-1130."

Forming support group for relatives of cancer patients

Joacquin is too good for them

What trifling garbage some newspapers spew from ignorantly rumbling jowls.

Go to the All-Star game, they told this season's best National League pitcher, the inimitable Joacquin Andujar.

The league needed him, they said. Well, tell it to Dick Williams. He batted Andujar. He made it seem the decision on who would start the All-Star game was based on the outcome of last Friday's pairing of Andujar and LaMarr Hoyt.

Andujar was justly offended. He said before the game he would not attend. The best Hoyt could do was finish 12-4 with a win. The worst Andujar could do was 13-4.

The math is simple. It all adds up to Andujar having the best record in the National League and that is reason enough for him to have started.

Andujar lost 3-0 to Hoyt. One paper had the unmitigated gall to suggest the loss resulted because "Williams knew that Joacquin's hot Latin blood would affect his brain."

The article prefaced the remark, stating, "Some might say..." Well, some might say it, but it still sounds a bit more like an ethnic slur than deserved repetition.

What really happened was the Cardinals didn't score for Andujar. As far as how he pitched, giving up two runs is hardly cause for derision.

Other comments were equally ridiculous. It was implied children will grow up somehow deformed because Andujar didn't set a good example. They suggested he give up his principles for something they believe in.

Fortunately, Andujar didn't compromise his personal integrity because of public and peer pressure. There's a good example for children to emulate.

Andujar's a holdout, some say. They might say the same of hustling Pete Rose, or carousing Babe Ruth or battling Ty Cobb. Those who excel, like Andujar, thrive in spite of criticism.

Andujar came back from a terrible season in 1983 to be the league's winningest pitcher in 1984, and to have a shot at the same distinction this year.

Andujar deserved better than the game played by Williams, and Andujar's reaction not to play in the All-Star game was justified.

Unlike some, Andujar doesn't need an All-Star game to know he's a star.

Halt ticket flow at its source

Still another round of bills for supposed Chicago traffic law violations is flooding mailboxes in this region. Authorities say the bogus citations number in the hundreds and perhaps thousands.

Despite the fact that both of them are looking to Chicago officials for political support in future elections, we think strong and effective action should be taken promptly by the Illinois attorney general and the Cook County state's attorney. They are in a position to do more than they have done so far.

"Nobody is being hounded" by Chicago authorities since Attorney General Neil Hartigan began "going to bat" for those receiving inappropriate traffic tickets, in aid to the attorney general said this week.

Hartigan is collecting photocopies of tickets forwarded to him by individuals, and is sending them to Chicago along with form letters. But he has not taken direct steps to halt the apparent fraud at its source.

In a nutshell, numerous persons who have never been to Chicago are being warned to pay for traffic offenses, some dated recently and some dated several years ago. Frightened by the letters, many persons are handing over $23 rather than fighting back or simply refusing to pay.

Why such bills would be mailed to Downstaters is still a matter of speculation, but blaming it all on a wayward computer is becoming less and less believable as the dunning continues throughout the summer.

Innocent drivers and motor vehicle owners should not be subjected to such pressure. The ruse apparently is succeeding in amassing a lot of money, which makes it even more reprehensible.

Somebody, somewhere, in Chicago's City Department of Revenue or City Department of Law is at fault, and on a massive scale. "Procedural error," at this point, is an unacceptable excuse.

The illegal, abusive activity ought to be nipped in the bud, regardless of who is involved and how much political clout they have.

MIAs, POWs still held hostage

Hostages have been in the news the last month with the hijacking of Flight 847.

Tomorrow, National POW/MIA Day, brings to mind a different kind of hostage for three local families.

For those families, their sons, husbands, brothers or fathers have not returned from the Vietnam Conflict. Their whereabouts have not been reported on for almost 20 years.

Air Force Capt. John Bernard Causey of Granite City was reported Killed In Action in North Vietnam on Feb. 29, 1968.

Another Granite City resident, Army Warrant Officer James Leslie Dayton was reported Killed In Action in South Vietnam on May 8, 1968.

The former husband of a Granite City woman,

Navy Capt. Roger Innes was reported Missing In Action on Dec. 27, 1967.

These were the last words heard about our hostages. They have never returned.

Recently the North Vietnamese government pledged to return the remains of 26 Americans killed in Vietnam. They also agreed to provide evidence or information on six other Americans reported Missing In Action.

The Vietnamese have indicated they want to resolve the MIA issue within two years.

We applaud their efforts. The MIA/POW issue has gone on too long for many families. There are still 2,464 Americans who are missing.

We hope the Vietnam hostage crisis will be resolved soon. Our men deserve to come back home.

Political rivals share spotlight

SPRINGFIELD — The deadlock that held the "Build Illinois" program and the state budget hostage for the first week of July, made House Speaker Michael Madigan and Minority Leader Lee Daniels the focus of public attention.

In the absence of the Senate, which completed its business and adjourned on July 3, two days before the House leadership reached a compromise, the dispute in the House made headlines in which Madigan and Daniels are prominently mentioned.

Both men have held their leadership positions since January 1983.

Although Madigan, a Chicago Democrat, has the mystique of the old-line Daley political machine, he is actually no more likely to dictate a position to his membership than Daniels, an Elmhurst Republican.

Both leaders know they will not remain leaders long if they try to require their rank and file to cast votes they can't justify.

The two leaders have bridged their partisan differences during most of the three spring sessions they've been in office. Daniels has been saddled with a significant numerical disadvantage — a 22-vote difference in 1983-84 and a 16-vote difference in the current session. Without cooperation, House Republicans could accomplish nothing.

So Daniels made history in 1983 when he called for unanimous support for Madigan for speaker, and he praised Madigan's performance just six months ago in making the same call for this session.

But in both 1983 and the current session, Daniels has influenced major issues by using the only weapon the minority in the legislature has: delay until the majority can't act on its own.

The threat of delay helped Daniels prevail during the tax increase debate in 1983. The reality of delay allowed Daniels to influence Build Illinois this year.

Republicans stalled consideration of the public aid budget several times, refusing to call the bill — which had Republican sponsorship — for a vote until after June 30. At that point, budget measures required three-fifths votes to pass, which meant they needed GOP votes.

The delay tactic in the last two weeks angered the normally controlled Madigan, who has a strong sense of discipline traceable to his religious and political background.

He retaliated by refusing to allow consideration of a Republican add-on to the Build Illinois project list. Daniels then refused to put Republican votes on the public aid budget until the Build Illinois bill was called.

But the speaker had more parliamentary maneuvers up his sleeve than did Daniels. Madigan's delay tactic delayed Build Illinois until October forced the Friday, July 5 agreement to renegotiate the project list in a special session Monday, July 8.

Both leaders are attorneys. Both are 43. Both are capable of intense partisanship but also conciliation.

As speaker, Madigan has imposed a more strict routine on the House. He is the son of a Chicago precinct captain and a product of the Chicago Catholic school system, Notre Dame and Loyola University Law School. He was elected to the House in 1970, the year he was a member of the Constitutional Convention, and was elected committee chairman of Chicago's 13th Ward the same year.

The 13th Ward is one of the most solidly Democratic in the city.

Daniels comes from an area that is overwhelmingly Republican, the village of Elmhurst in DuPage County. His district may be the single best represented area in the state; its senator is Senate GOP leader James "Pete" Philip, who also serves as DuPage County Republican chairman.

Daniels' delegation has had more influence than one would expect of such an outnumbered minority.

Born in Lansing, Mich., Daniels attended the University of Iowa and received his law degree from John Marshall Law School in Chicago. He served as a special assistant Illinois attorney general, heading the prosecution of a series of civil fraud cases against the Equity Funding Life Insurance Co., before winning election to the House in 1974.

2,464 missing are yet to be accounted for

To the Editor:

Friday, July 19, has been designated as POW-MIA (prisoners of war and missing in action) Recognition Day. It is important that this be kept in the eyes of the public.

POW-MIA families have waited more than a decade to learn the fate of their loved ones.

Vietnam claims to be searching for information on the missing. However, the sincerity of their claim is dubious, since the U.S. government possesses substantial intelligence data that the remains of over 400 American servicemen are being secretly withheld. Today, there are 2,464 Americans unaccounted for in Southeast Asia. The united support of a concerned America is necessary to help end this uncertainty.

All can help by writing to their elected government officials and to the Vietnamese, urge members of Congress to speak out and support the U.S. government's current high priority on accounting for these missing Americans.

Melvin Price can be written to at the U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515. Alan Dixon and Paul Simon can be written to at the U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510.

We need to urge Hanoi to fulfill its commitment to cooperate fully with the U.S. to account for our POW-MIA. Letters can be sent to the SRV Mission to the United Nations, 20 Waterside Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10010.

For more information, people may contact the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia, 1608 K St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

Paramedics, firemen and police saved child

To the Editor:

I've been reading letters people have written cutting down the Granite City firemen.

I think these people are wrong. During the recent holiday, my 7-month-old daughter choked badly. I called an ambulance and the response was terrific.

It took about one minute for them to arrive. There were 2 paramedics, a police car, 2 ambulances and the fire chief. Apparently they had been working on the American flag project.

Their work for her was wonderful. I feel these people who wrote critical letters should look around and really see what those men are doing for our community.

We are thankful to our firemen and police officers for the great job they have done. The paramedics were wonderful. I feel we need more caring people like these men in our community.

Outstanding band concerts are being presented at parks

To the Editor:

The "big band" sound heard in Stearns Park on Wednesday, July 10, was a beautiful experience for those who enjoy good music presented in a delightful setting.

Every Granite Citizen can be justifiably proud of Stan Fornaszewski and his talented musicians.

The next concert will take place on Wednesday, July 24, at 7:30 p.m. in Worthen Park just off of Maryville Road.

I suggest: Circle this date for a wonderful evening of "Music Under the Stars," a worthy Granite City tradition.

history of large awards for damages in area courts.

BOARD MEMBER William R. Haine, D-Alton, has objected to self-insurance, saying the loss of liability insurance in a sense puts the small homeowner in the insurance business, as property taxes can be raised without limit to cover claims.

On July 9, the county board approved a resolution authorizing its Central Services Committee to obtain a new insurance policy or enter into a self-insurance program for liability coverage without further board action.

In other action Wednesday, the Madison County Board approved the following resolutions:

— A RESOLUTION authorizing the county to submit a site proposal for a facility to house three divisions of the National Institute of Corrections, U.S. Department of Justice. The proposal is being submitted on behalf of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois and Lewis & Clark Community College.

The resolution indicates Madison County is one of 128 sites being considered for the facility, which would provide training and varied technical assistance to local, state and federal corrections personnel from throughout the nation. A site at SIUC has been proposed.

— A resolution allowing the Special Service and Central Services committees to advertise for bids for installing pumps and making modifications to existing wet wells for Madison County Special Service Area 1.

— A RESOLUTION authorizing Sheppard, Morgan & Schwab, consulting engineers at 3728 Nameoki Road, to act as the engineers for the Hen House Restaurant sewer extension project.

The restaurant wants to construct an extension to Madison County Special Service Area 1 to serve a new restaurant being constructed at the southwest corner of Route 111 and East Chain of Rocks Road.

The cost of the sewer extension is estimated at $12,000, and Hen House Interstate Inc. has agreed to place that amount in an escrow account with the county.

— A RESOLUTION accepting the Meadowlark Subdivision sewer system into Madison County Special Service Area 1.

— A resolution vacating sanitary sewer easements in Timberlake Manor in Pontoon Beach.

utilized and future plans were not available, no one objected to the existing action.

"Since that time many new tenants, including reserve units, have obtained interservice support agreements. The Army has now determined that tract six is a critical part of the total mission of this installation."

"If tract six were sold the installation would be geographically divided, which would spell disaster for the integrity and possible future use of SLASC. Realizing that there are local area groups interested in buying and utilizing this property, we feel the net result of the sale would negatively impact the local employment economy."

ACCORDING TO Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce statistics, SLASC is the second largest employer in the area, employing 625 persons.

According to Howard Demere, a public affairs representative for Aviation Systems Command, St. Louis, a space utilization study at the base will be conducted within the next several weeks.

A decision on the 156 acres will be given to the local installation on Nov. 1.

the new license was created for Ralph and Charlie's Steak House located at 1431 Fourth St.

"The revenues will help the community, and it will give him (restaurant owner) Dave DeBartolotta the opportunity to do additional business at night," he said.

"Belcoff said he foresaw no problems with the new licensing, and any other business which qualifies for the license is welcome to apply."

"I'm trying to help their business, not hurt it," he said.

Also occurring at the meeting was the promotion of four firemen. Those promoted from probationary firemen to firemen were Delbert Sipes, Fred Finazzo, and Kevin Sipes. Leonard Bringer was promoted from cadet to probationary fireman.

Former police officer Norris Horton was appointed to the office of assistant health inspector.

Approval for the purchase of five sets of walkie talkies for the police department was given by the board. The walkie talkies will cost approximately $5,500.

CLOTHING, WATCH GONE

Harold Brown reported clothing items and a watch were taken in a July 15 burglary at a home at 503 Filmore St., Venice. A window was forced open to gain entry and all rooms then were ransacked and left in disarray.

Improved sewer system is topicBy JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA

MITCHELL — Improving sewer service will be discussed tonight by Madison County Sanitary Sewers.

A demonstration of a monitor that could serve the district's wells will be presented, according to Supervisor Paul Bennett. A representative of the Motorola Company in Springfield will make the presentation.

For five years the district has discussed improving its monitoring ability, Bennett said Wednesday.

When a pump fails, an alarm goes off and residents who hear the alarm are asked to notify the district to make repairs. In the meantime, some of the 3,500 persons served by the district can lose service.

Bennett said the district is considering a lift station monitor with a central control panel as a better means of caring for its 82 wells. When a well goes down, the district will be notified immediately.

Power outages, blown fuses and inclement weather can cause pumps to quit, he said.

A district spokeswoman said cost of the types of monitors, and the number that may be needed, has not been determined.

The meeting at 7 p.m. tonight will be held at 301 E. Chain of Rocks Road.

The district serves portions of Niantah, Venice and Chouteau townships, including areas of Wilshire, Mitchell and Pontoon.

BICYCLIST IS INJURED IN COLLISION SATURDAY

Christopher W. Whitehead, 9, of 2918 W. 20th St. was injured July 13 when his bicycle collided with a car at 1829 Maple St.

The driver of the car was Irene E. Goede, 84, of 1805 Maple St. She told police the bicycle came out from behind some parked cars.

Power outages, blown fuses and inclement weather can cause pumps to quit, he said.

Murder investigation continues

Authorities interviewed a number of persons this week as an investigation into a July 12 robbery and homicide at Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza (Skelly's) continues.

Illinois Department of Criminal Investigation agents believe the homicide is linked to another robbery that occurred earlier the same day at the truck stop, Route 203 and Interstates 55-70.

Randy A. Reed, 19, of Meridian, Miss., was shot and killed on the parking lot of the truck stop. He apparently was picked up by a truck driver in Troy and let out at Skelly's, authorities said.

Reed suffered a gunshot wound to the stomach from a small-caliber handgun.

Witnesses said Reed and another man were walking from the truck stop restaurant when they were approached by two men who tried to sell them "grass."

When Reed and the other man refused the offer, one of the suspects drew a gun on Reed and demanded his money. He then fired a shot and the two ran to a car driven by a third black man.

Reed went to the truck that had brought him from Troy and told the driver he had been shot. He then collapsed, and authorities found him in the cab of that truck. They also found a .25 caliber casing three feet from the truck.

The shooting suspect is described as in his 20s or 30s, 5 foot, 4 inches tall, 130 pounds, with short hair.

A second suspect is described as being in his late 20s or early 30s, five foot, 11 inches tall, with bushy hair pulled forward in front.

Police have no description of the man driving the car but the car is described as a gray, late-model, four-door vehicle, resembling a 1984 Chevrolet Celebrity. The car bore Illinois license plates.

Norman E. Arnold, a truck driver from Peoria, told authorities he was sleeping in his truck cab that day when a black man entered the truck, displayed a nickel-plated, small gun and demanded Arnold's money.

Arnold put his wallet on the front seat of the truck. The robber then told Arnold to lie down and not look up. The suspect took the money from the wallet, leaving the wallet on the seat, and left, Arnold said.

Arizona man nabbed after lengthy chase

A Tucson, Ariz., man held police on a multi-county, high-speed chase before surrendering to police Monday near Collinsville.

The suspect, John F. Walker, 22, was taken to the Madison County jail in Edwardsville, charged with numerous offenses.

The chase began about 3:30 a.m. on Interstate 55 in Logan County, 20 miles north of Springfield, said Sgt. Robert Kaylor of the Illinois State Police District 9 headquarters in Springfield.

Two officers pulled over two southbound cars bearing license plates later determined to have been stolen, Kaylor said. The occupants of the vehicles refused to provide any information and suddenly fled at high speed.

A Logan County sheriff's department car joined the chase and stopped one of the fleeing vehicles in Logan County. The driver, held Monday morning in the Logan County jail in Lincoln, was identified as David Heathman, 20, of Tucson.

The other car, a Chevrolet Camaro, continued southbound. Near the Sixth Street exit at Springfield, a pursuing state police car went out of control in heavy rain and overturned at 4:02 a.m.

The officers in the car, driver Julie Erickson, 26, of Springfield and passenger James Skorzak, 31, of Lincoln, suffered minor injuries.

Meanwhile, the fleeing driver crossed the median into northbound lanes to avoid a police roadblock near Litchfield. The car stayed in the northbound lanes for almost two miles, Kaylor said.

Later, police lost track of the car until it was spotted by a Greenville police officer in Greenville. Another chase developed, first on Illinois 127 and then on westbound Interstate 70, but the car was lost again.

It was seen at about 6:45 a.m. on Illinois 143 east of Edwardsville by Sgt. Delbert Clemens of the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

Clemens, in an unmarked car, did not use his siren or emergency lights and followed the suspect vehicle into Edwardsville, where Edwardsville police had set up a roadblock near the eastern city limits.

Seeing the roadblock, Walker left Illinois 143 and another chase began through the Dunlap Lake area of Edwardsville.

If continued on Route 159 to Glen Carbon, where Walker turned onto Interstate 270. He crossed the median to the eastbound lanes and then turned south on Illinois 157.

Walker stopped when he came upon a roadblock set up by Collinsville police at Illinois 157 and State Aid Route 35. He offered no resistance.

He was accompanied by a 15-year-old boy from the Tucson area, now being held by state police.

Charges against Walker include aggravated assault, two counts of improper lane usage, speeding, criminal damage to state-supported property, two counts of reckless driving, reckless conduct, two counts of fleeing police officers and violation of parole from Mount Prospect, Ill.

Walker was alleged to have led Chicago area police on a 25-mile, high-speed chase, two years ago in which 15 police vehicles were damaged.

MESD obtains insurance for heavy equipment

By SUSANNE INDELICATO Staff writer

GRANITE CITY: The Metro-East Sanitary District has acquired insurance on its heavy equipment but will still investigate the possibility of self-insuring because of higher insurance rates.

"Insurance is getting almost prohibitive," MESD Executive Director Shang Greathouse said Tuesday. "I've told our insurance agent that if your rates go up, you're going to force us to self-insure."

DURING A JULY 3 meeting, the MESD commissioners discussed the fact that insurance on the district's heavy equipment expired July 1. At that time, the district faced a difficult time acquiring another policy on the equipment.

Since then, Greathouse said, the district has obtained liability and property damage insurance, cancelled its collision insurance on its heavy equipment and took out a new collision policy with new rates. The equipment was covered by a policy issued through Charles Crane Agency Co. of St. Louis. Ed English, a broker for the insurance company, told Greathouse premiums for such policies are tripling because interest rates on insurance investments have dropped while claims have increased.

IN OTHER ACTION at Tuesday's MESD meeting, Greathouse told commissioners Saugel may take over the operation and maintenance of the Cahokia Sewage Treatment Plant by September.

An agreement to turn over the operation of the plant to Saugel was made in 1982. The agreement gave the plant and surrounding property to Saugel and, in return, Saugel took over MESD's bond payments on the plant.

Greathouse thinks Saugel may begin operating the plant in September because Saugel officials have indicated a sewage treatment system there may be able to handle primary treatment, a function of the Cahokia plant, by then.

SAUGEL OFFICIALS plan to incorporate the plant into a $100 million sewage treatment system being constructed there. In anticipation, they have participated in some renovations at the plant.

The MESD Board approved a tax levy for Jan. 1 through Dec. 31, 1985, of $1,683,925, the amount of taxes to be raised based on the 1984 valuation of property within the MESD. The valuation is $282,991,174.

Greathouse explained that the district's tax rate of 34.1 cents per $100 assessed valuation, established in 1907, would remain the same. This year's tax levy is down from last year's levy of $2,071,440.

BIRDS ARE LET LOOSE BY BURGLAR AT PET STORE
Several birds were let loose from their cages after someone entered The Swamp, a pet store at 2324 Nameoki Road, July 16. The intruder took $50 in cash from the store.

A door was kicked in and cages containing gerbils and guinea pigs were overturned. Most of the birds were opened and the birds were allowed to fly around inside the store. A ferret also was set loose.

BURGLARY AT RODERICK'S
Roderick's Restaurant, 2723 E. 24th St., was entered early July 16 but the only items taken were some ink pens and two pocket knives. Employees found a door had been forced open. A medicine chest was opened by the burglar and the cash register was ransacked.

Trade-minded Illinois delegation tours China

The first delegation of state officials to businesses from the United States to be invited to bid on or provide services for construction of a major highway in China toured the project in mid-July.

Illinois Transportation Secretary Greg Baise, heading the Illinois delegation, was accompanied by 26 persons representing a number of Illinois construction, engineering, management and material supplying firms. The delegation included Gary Pears of Madison County.

The group was taken by Liaoning Transportation Department officials through many sections of the site, where the terrain ranged from rich farmland to rugged areas.

The road, which will run within the Province of Liaoning, will connect the City of Shenyang to the port City of Dalian as part of the province's drive for industrial development. Construction bids began on this first major highway for Liaoning.

Liaoning officials came to Illinois to discuss the highway project. The Illinoisans responded by going to China to get more details and a hands-on look at the construction.

"The project can offer an opportunity for continued cooperation between Liaoning and Illinois, benefiting a number of Illinois businesses," said Department of Commerce and Community Affairs Director Michael T. Woelfler.

In 1982, Illinois and Liaoning established a sister-state relationship. Under the agreement, both parties notify each other when a potential exists for increased exports; provide details on bid specifications and equipment requirements; study further trade cooperation; and disseminate product literature to appropriate organizations.

Baise complimented the Chinese, saying, "Start of construction of the Dalian-Shenyang road is impressive. We spent 16 hours touring the entire 280 miles, $740 million road project in mid-July."

"The officials we met and worked with are interested in continuing to develop the self-reliance of the People's Republic of China through improved transportation facilities."

Terry Goff, director of the Far East region for Caterpillar World Trading Corp., said, "The object of this trip includes continued dialogue with Liaoning about the potential purchase of CAT equipment."

Since 1975, China has purchased 600 machines and 1,000 engines from Caterpillar, including a recently announced sale of 81 units valued at $16.8 million for a coal mining project.

The delegation will travel to Hong Kong and Japan before returning to the U.S. July 19.

Indians' sun calendar to rise again

On Sunday, Aug. 4, from noon to 3 p.m., Cahokia Mounds volunteers will be reconstructing the sun calendar "Woodhenge" that has been discovered at Cahokia Mounds Historic Site, 7850 Collinsville Road. The reconstruction is a living display, developed to help the public understand and experience how the Indians constructed Woodhenge.

Woodhenge is being reconstructed as closely as possible to the original, using prehistoric tools, methods and native materials.

STONE AXES will be used to trim and cut the red cedar logs. The bark will be removed by hand. Logs will then be burnt and painted with a red ochre mixture, experts at the site explained.

A pit used to support a large post will be dug, using a stone hoe. These post pits are about 7 feet long and 2 feet wide, sloping from the surface at one end to 4 feet deep, forming a ramp.

In the afternoon, a log raising will be held. The volunteers will try to raise a log using the same engineering skills employed by the Indians.

TOURS WILL BE given all day of the reconstruction, with explanations given of Woodhenge's function. The public is invited to observe, participate and relive part of the prehistoric past.

For more information about the Woodhenge Program, readers may call the Museum at 344-5268.

CAHOKIA MOUNDS Historic Site is located 8 miles from downtown St. Louis off Interstate 55-70 and Highway 157, on Highway 40 or Collinsville Road.

Suzanne Kutterer-Siburt of the staff said, "Reconstruction of the Indian sun calendar this summer at the historic site has become a reality through the generosity of individuals, particularly George and Mildred Arnold."

"The Woodhenge calendar was discovered by accident in 1961 by Dr. Warren Wittry, when he and other professional archaeologists were trying to save areas threatened by interstate highway construction. This highway has since been relocated.

"ARCHAEOLOGICAL excavations at the Cahokia Site revealed five different Woodhenges built at the same location over a 200-year period, 900-1100 A.D.

"The third circle, which dated 1000 A.D., is being reconstructed to recreate as closely as possible the original Indian Woodhenge."

"This circle, 410 feet in diameter, consisted of 48 red cedar posts evenly spaced 27.4 feet apart. The posts were 15-20 inches in diameter and stood 16-20 feet high. Red ochre (an iron clay oxide) found in the post pits suggests the posts were painted red."

"The POST PITS sloped from the surface at one end to a depth of about 4 feet, forming a ramp. This enabled the Indians to raise the posts more easily, sliding the posts down the ramp."

"Raising a post probably took the strength of 20 or more men."

"Our Woodhenge Summer Program" runs from July through September. The Cahokia Mounds Museum Society Archaeological Field School is presently excavating at Woodhenge to locate the four final post pits needed to complete the reconstruction.

"During July, the excavation may be visited by the public Monday through Friday until noon."

Think of it as your life line.

Wearing seatbelts. It has always been a good idea. But now, in Illinois, as well as several other states, it's the law. Think of these enlightening statistics: in Illinois this year the new law is expected to save 300 lives and 34,000 injuries.* So take the extra three seconds needed to buckle up. Use Seatbelts. They're something you can live with.

Long session aided this area and state

By REP. SAM WOLF

When the gavel sounded on June 30 at midnight, it was not the beginning of the end for the Illinois House of Representatives, but the beginning of a long extra week, with the General Assembly in dispute over public aid checks, "Build Illinois" and several DuPage County bills.

Finally, on Friday, July 5, the House passed the budget, dealt with the DuPage County agenda and agreed to a special session called by Governor Thompson for Monday, July 8.

IN THE INTERIM, nearly 95,000 public aid checks had been held up and the concept of "Build Illinois" was, perhaps, soured by the dispute. Nevertheless, the governor and House and Senate leaders have deemed the session both successful and productive.

From the public's standpoint, the two years of study and task forces on education are at an end, with the Assembly passing a fairly comprehensive education reform bill which includes new state dollars for school districts.

In addition to "Build Illinois," the legislature approved the Infrastructure Revolving Loan Program as a prelude to Congress' National Infrastructure Act, and completed work on the public utilities rewrite.

A MAJOR PACKAGE approved this session was a group of six bills to aid Alzheimer's patients and their families. As the fastest growing health threat in America, Alzheimer's has afflicted more than 11,000 people in Illinois.

This emotionally and financially draining disease brought about legislation designed to provide relief to victims and their families, as well as provide new research mechanisms for diagnosis and treatment of the disease. I believe this legislation will place Illinois as a frontrunner in the nation in the fight against Alzheimer's.

The issue of public utilities has gained much attention over the last few years — as well it should.

UTILITY RATES are among the highest inflationary costs today, and many low-income and older citizens are having a difficult time keeping up with rising utility costs.

Two years ago, a major legislative package of utility bills was passed by the Assembly, creating the Citizens Utility Board to advocate for consumers, phasing out CWIP (Construction Work in Progress) costs and mandating construction cost audits.

This year, the Public Utilities Act was up for sunset review and a rewrite of the act was mandated.

The bill, as passed, contained many good provisions, including mandated construction and management cost audits; a state funded Public Utility Counsel; a decrease in capitalization costs passed on to consumers; and substantial review of diversification (the creation of holding companies) of public utility companies.

THE BIGGEST NEGATIVE in the legislation was failure to place a cap on the amount of excess capacity held by utility companies and paid for by consumers. This was the key issue for consumer groups in cutting utility costs and giving notice that over-construction of nuclear power plants must stop.

The good news, however, was passage of House Bill 18, which has the effect of lowering the utility tax placed on consumer's bills. Currently, the utility tax is figured by the average utility costs used, rather than the actual kilowatt hours used per household.

The new method, it signed by the governor, will provide utility tax relief for most households throughout the state.

OTHER GOOD NEWS includes the passage of legislation creating the Small Business Utility Advocate. For many small businesses, utilities pose their highest operating cost, and yet the consumer advocacy network has largely ignored the problem.

The made-for-television movie, "Adam" — the story of a family victimized by the abduction of their son — had a profound effect on the state's intervention in child abduction cases. Two years ago, the I-SEARCH program was passed by the Assembly, prompting hundreds of communities throughout the state to participate.

THIS YEAR, a major package of child protection bills, which I co-sponsored, awaits the governor's approval. Within the package is legislation calling for special programs to instruct elementary school students on how to avoid abduction, and requiring schools to adopt an "Attendance Hot Line" to notify parents of a child's absence from school.

Also on the governor's desk is legislation permitting criminal charges against a stranger who attempts to lure a child into a vehicle. In this way, we can arrest some individuals before they successfully abduct a child.

One disappointment was the failure of the Senate to pass the House's Community Right to Know bill, allowing citizens to have access to information regarding toxic or hazardous chemicals which are stored, used or transported in the community.

I STRONGLY SUPPORT this measure, and I am certain the legislation will emerge again next year. In an era when the use of toxic chemicals in the community has become the norm, it is time that residents have information and input concerning the health and safety of their homes and neighborhoods.

The final version of another disputed issue, medical malpractice, was sent to the governor. After much heated debate on more than 100 amendments, the final package contained provisions limiting the filing of unfounded medical malpractice lawsuits; limiting fees which lawyers can assess against successful malpractice in hospitals.

COSTS OF MEDICAL malpractice insurance have greatly contributed to the rising costs of medical care. I hope this legislation will help reverse the trend. Many other important issues were addressed during this session and my office will be happy to answer any questions people may have.

Much has been written about both the education reform package and "Build Illinois," and I am certain many are aware of the numerous components of each bill.

IN GENERAL, I feel that our district fared very well under both programs. With over $2 million in first-year funding for projects under "Build Illinois," and over $2 million in state dollars for our school district, the 111th Legislative District realized some successes.

I will have fact sheets on the education reform package, as well as other major legislative items, available in my office by the middle of August.

Meanwhile, it is good to be home and back in the district. In the interim, as additional information becomes available, I will try to keep everyone up-to-date.

Update on kish to be given today

By DAVE WHALEY

GRANITE CITY — An update on a study into the silver "kish" which has fallen on Granite City the past several months will be given to Mayor Von Dee Cruse today.

Henry Bielecki, administrative assistant to Cruse, said a meeting with Walter Franke, regional manager for air pollution for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, was arranged to discuss the problem.

"BASICALLY, we will be giving them the same report we gave the previous administration," Franke said. "There's really nothing new, but I guess in the transition (from Paul Schuler to Cruse), that report didn't make it."

Bielecki said the IEPA had talked with Granite City Steel about installing a directional monitor to try to determine where the material might be coming from.

"They would like to determine whether some new material that was found was the same as the stuff that was analyzed last year," Bielecki said.

BIELECKI SAID the monitor would take samples from certain directions to find out what part of the plant (if any) the kish might be coming from.

"As far as I know, Granite City Steel agreed to put the monitor in somewhere," he said. "I think the one they are talking about would turn with the wind, while some others are stationary.

"I don't know where it would be put. There are many places the stuff could be coming from."

The kish is a glittery silver material which is often found on cars and sidewalks around town. One study determined last year that it was coming from Granite City Steel, but the study said the material had proved to cause no major problems.

Burn's Cafeteria Celebrating 40 Years In Downtown Granite City

After 2 years of semi-retirement, Bill is back to work making the good homemade pies that has been our trademark for 40 years. Remember the cheese pie or the banana cream pie with real egg white meringue? How about short ribs of beef with oven browned potatoes? Did you miss the homemade rolls and cornbread? They are back, too. Enjoy a breaded pork chop with cream gravy served every day, or how about chicken and dumplings every Tuesday, beef liver and onions on Thursday, breaded Icelandic cod every Friday?

Top this off with the finest bottomless cup of coffee in town. Our food is worth the trip downtown.

Just to be sure, Larry is back to add his gourmet touch to our down home cooking.

Julie is back too, working with our crew of friendly girls giving that extra special service.

Try us and thanks from all of us here at Burns'. You folks have made the forty years so great. We are looking forward to many more years in downtown Granite City.

State wildlife funds from ammunition tax are lagging

Director Michael B. Witte of the Department of Conservation said this week that Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration Act (Pittman-Robertson) fund participation in a number of Illinois' wildlife efforts will be curtailed due to a general decline in the level of funding available.

Pittman-Robertson is a sportsman-funded national grant program which provides funds to state wildlife agencies for restoration, conservation, management and enhancement of wild birds and mammals.

THE FUNDS may also be used for enhancing public use of these resources and for conservation appreciation and hunter safety education. The program is administered at the federal level by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Nationwide receipts of revenues from the excise taxes declined drastically since the 1982 federal fiscal year, due to lagging sales of the items taxes.

Illinois' apportionment from federal fiscal year 1983 is $1.6 million, the lowest since fiscal 1979, and more than $800,000 less than in 1982.

It has become necessary to drastically reduce the levels of Pittman-Robertson program participation in many state activities, Witte said, adding:

"REDUCTION of federal participation means, in some cases, that activities formerly planned, will not proceed."

"This is true of pheasant, squirrel and waterfowl research projects planned with the cooperation of the Illinois Natural History Survey. Similarly, continued work on bobwhite quail and swamp rabbits at Southern Illinois University will not take place."

"Other research, public lands management activities, and planning will either continue to be at least partially funded as before or will be expected to continue with state funding in lieu of the federal funds. Planned hunter education activities are unaffected."

"The Pittman-Robertson program was created by the U.S. Congress in 1937."

"IN ITS NEARLY 50 years of existence, it has made major contributions to the continued health, access to, and safe enjoyment of wild birds and mammals in Illinois and throughout the country."

"The program was established with its own source of funding, which is automatically appropriated each year without an explicit act of Congress."

"The funds come from a nationwide excise tax on firearms, ammunition, bows and arrows. Each state receives its apportionment of the annual revenues according to a formula which takes into account the state's geographic area, number of hunting license holders and census population."

Marquette Park closes campground

The main campground for recreational vehicles and the tent camping area at Pere Marquette State Park near Grafton have been closed for expansion and upgrading work, substantially reducing camping spots this summer.

The main campground, which has 65 sites, is being expanded by 20 spots for RV camping, and electrical service facilities are also being upgraded.

A tent camping "day use" area east of the main campground is also currently closed for improvements.

Park Superintendent Dick Brown said he hopes the two areas will be ready for campers again by Labor Day.

In the meantime, an "overflow" camping area adjacent to park headquarters is open and contains 20 sites. Although there are sites for both RV and tenting, Brown said, it might be "a little uncomfortable for tenters" because of the gravel base surface.

Potential users of campground facilities at Pere Marquette are being urged to call ahead to the park office for a condition report.

The superintendent's office number is 786-3323.

All classes will provide hands-on experiences through activities designed to promote critical and creative thinking, decision-making and problem-solving skills. Field trips, tours, guest speakers and area resources will be used.

In Champaign Local athletes gear up for Prairie State Games

By JOE THOMPSON of the Press-Record
CHAMPAIGN — Amateur sports in Illinois gets another boost this weekend, as the Olympic-style Prairie State Games return — bigger and what officials expect will be better than last year's well received inaugural.

Several buses carrying area athletes left Wednesday morning for Champaign where the Games will be held for a second year. Opening ceremonies, conducted Wednesday evening, were to feature an address by last year's Los Angeles Olympic organizer and current baseball commissioner Peter Ueberroth.

Competition in 15 sports, ranging from archery to weightlifting, began Thursday morning and will continue through Sunday — climaxed by championship matches in the soccer competition.

Last year, Granite City area athletes spearheaded its Southern Region — one of eight Regions — to soccer titles in men's scholastic (high school) and women's scholastic and open (non-scholastic competitors) divisions. The Southern Region's men's open soccer team failed to place.

As of Wednesday afternoon, approximately 30 Granite City athletes, and one from Venice, Reggie Williams, were entered in swimming, soccer, wrestling and basketball competition.

THE NUMBER of Granite City athletes represents a sharp decline from last year when 43 were entered.

One prominent Granite City athlete who will not be attending is Lora Wiser, who finished fourth in the Games last year in the 1500-meter scholastic run.

Wiser, who placed 13th at the state cross country meet last fall as a junior at Granite City High, is still recovering from an ankle injury suffered during track season this spring.

"It was a little bit unorganized," Wiser said of last year's initial Games. "Otherwise it was really fun. There was a lot of people there. It was exciting."

One of Granite City's best known athletes, Eric Graves, is entered for a second straight year in the long jump. Graves finished second in the event at the state finals last spring.

GRANITE CITY is also represented by one of the Games' youngest entrants, Brent Harris, who attended Grigsby Junior High last year. Harris is entered in the wrestling competition in the 98-pound weight class. For swimmer Patti Martin of Granite City, her motto could be try, and try, and try...

She is entered in no less than seven events in the scholastic class, including the 100 meter butterfly, 100 backstroke, 100 freestyle, 200 freestyle, 400 medley, 800 freestyle and 400 freestyle. Martin did not place last year.

She is joined by fellow swimmer Kelly Reed, who did have much success last year. Reed placed third in the scholastic women's 800 meter freestyle event. She is entered in the 200 freestyle and 50 freestyle meter events this year.

While the number of Granite City athletes entered is smaller, the number of participants statewide has jumped significantly — from 2,800 last year to a projected 3,000, pending final tally Thursday afternoon.

The Games are sponsored by business and private contributions, unlike other states, most prominently New York, which underwrite their competitions with state monies.

According to a Prairie State Game official, there are 23 states who have, or are in the process of organizing similar events. New York was the first with its Empire State Games in 1978.

LAST YEAR'S Prairie State Games were considered a rousing success. The offshoot has been heightened interest and involvement at all levels, from volunteer to corporate.

"1984 was the first year for the Illinois Prairie State Games and it was a very successful year," Illinois Gov. James R. Thompson said earlier this year.

Gov. Thompson, who helped initiate the Games, said further, "We are proud of the beginning of the Prairie State Games have made and we know that in 1985 they are going to be bigger and better."

One of the long range hopes is that the Games will function as a feeder system for U.S. Olympic teams. Another goal is simply to bring together athletes in the spirit of competition.

The Southern Region, which represents 34 counties in addition to Madison and St. Clair, placed fifth last year. The North Shore Region, which includes all of Cook County north of I-55 and Lake County, won first place and was awarded the Governor's Cup.

THE SOUTHERN REGION, whose chairman is the former legendary Collinsville basketball coach Vergil Fletcher, received a gigantic boost from the success of its soccer entrants.

They have Granite City to thank for much of that glory. The chairman said this year, as Granite City again dominate soccer in the Southern Region.

Hopes are high the Region will duplicate its success this weekend. Norm Seim, coach of the women's scholastic soccer team which breezed to the title last year winning 4-1 in the final, said tryouts were fierce this year. "There were 27 to 28 girls trying out. I had to cut some good ones (16 are allowed)," Seim said.

Although one of the main threats from last year's team, Diana Wallace will not compete on the scholastic team this year. "I think we'll make up for it with the rest of the girls we've got," said Seim, who seemed jubilant in discussing the skills of his players. "It's amazing," he said.

The Women's open team was astounding last year, stunning the rest of its division by outscoring the field, 39-4. Ruben Mendoza, who coached the girls last year, returns this season. "It looks like we've got a good team," he said. "I think we've got a good chance."

MENDOZA'S MAJOR concern is that recent withdrawals has reduced his roster to 12 players, four below the limit. "I wish we had 16 because of the heat," he said. "But I've got a lot of confidence in the girls."

The men's scholastic team's dash to the title was more trying than their women's counterparts, as evidenced by its narrow 2-1 victory in the championship match.

The team is coached a second straight year by Jim Stranz, soccer coach at Collinsville High.

The men's open team, coached by Mike Moore, failed to place in the top three last year.

Following is a lineup of Granite City entrants including Cynthia Bridick, Laura Goodman, Julie Macios, Angie Moore, Maria Parra, Diana Takmajian, Becky Whitehead, Tammy Wroten, Marta Mendoza and Dawn Schwartz.

IN WOMEN'S OPEN, Granite City entrants include Todd Adamite, Terry Dutko, Dennis Gaudreault and Scott Grote.

In men's scholastic, Granite City entrants include Todd Adamite, Terry Dutko, Dennis Gaudreault and Scott Grote.

In men's open, three Granite City entrants are entered including Steve Tritschuh (SIU-E), James Kelahan and David Paz.

Other local athletes are expected to make big contributions are Jeff Cotter and Tom Sparks. The two also entered in the freestyle and Greco-Roman wrestling competition. Cotter will compete in the 106-pound weight class while Sparks is entered at the 154-pound division.

Reggie Williams, who played basketball at Madison, will play on the scholastic men's basketball team coached by Collinsville High's head coach Bobby Bone.

Christine Boyd, of Granite City, is entered in the open volleyball competition.

Other sports participants will compete in are boxing, diving, fencing, gymnastics, judo, shooting, and tennis.

Thursdays SPIN Defense could hold the key to Triplets' playoff

By GREGG OCHOA
for the Press-Record

HIGHLAND — Wayne Wirtz is a little nervous about his team's first round game with Tri-City in the upcoming American Legion baseball playoffs.

"I guess what really worries me the most is that we have already beaten them twice this season," Wirtz said of the match-up.

Wirtz's second place Highland team will meet the third place Triplets when the double elimination North Division tournament begins this Saturday at Highland's VFW Field.

Highland will take an 11-9 league record into the contest. Post 113 will check in at 10-10. The game begins at 8:30 p.m.

"Both clubs are very equal," said Wirtz, who is also District 23 commissioner. "It is really a tough one to call."

ELSEWHERE around the league, Highland (16-2) ousted Troy 5-1. Collinsville (16-2) downed Edwardsville 12-9. The survivor of the Collinsville-Bethalto game will play league champion Alton in the other double elimination at game Saturday at Gordon Moore Park.

The winner of the Tri-City-Highland game will meet the winner of the other quarterfinal game on July 21. The losers, meanwhile, play in the consolation bracket. The North Division championship games are set for July 23-24 (second game if necessary).

In the South Division, Marissa won the regular season crown at 17-3. Waterloo and Belleville also qualified for the double elimination tournament.

Getting back to Saturday's game, Highland won the two regular season battles against the Triplets 8-1 and 9-6, but those results mean nothing this time of the year.

"We have to worry about a let down," Wirtz said. "And, they are too good of a team to get beat three times."

THE STARTING pitchers are expected to be the Triplets Sam Tate (3-1). His only loss was to Highland in the second-last game of the season.

"I hope Sam's right Saturday," said Tri-City Manager Dave Coakley. "If he is, I think he'll do all right."

Highland will likely counter with Art Brundmeier (16-2). His last outing was a shutout over Mt. Vernon.

"We have been going with a four-man rotation and will continue to do so. Art's a young pitcher who has steadily improved all year," Wirtz.

The site of the game may be cause for some concern for Tri-City. The lights at the VFW Field are not the best. They resemble flashlights instead of high-beam power sources.

The outfielders tend to disappear in the shadows, especially in right and centerfield.

"THE LIGHTS may be a factor," Coakley said. "I think they're not, but I think they will be."

"If we can get there early (the team will arrive in Highland approximately one hour before game time) hopefully their eyes will have time to adjust."

"We, however, downplays the lighting. "I don't really think there is that much of a problem once you make the adjustment," the manager said.

"I don't think it's that big of a thing. Our kids will have just as much trouble (picking up the ball), if there is some trouble."

On the field there will be no lack of power. Despite splitting two weekend games, Tri-City's bats have been on fire. The Triplets crushed 35 hits in the two outings.

TRI-CITY is led by centerfielder Gerald Booker, the team's leading hitter at .402. Pat Cathey, who has manned both first base and shortstop has been on a tear. He is batting .366. Outfielder Shane Cole sports .333 average, despite missing some games because of work.

Those three along with Derek "Doc" Metz will represent Tri-City at the annual All-Star game. Metz, the team's catcher, is hitting .286.

"We have been hitting well. If our bats can stay hot I think we will be in good shape," Coakley said.

Highland features Alton pitcher Tom Geiger (.333), shortstop Mark Rosen (.462) and catcher-outfielder Jeff Schulte (.435).

However, a concern of both teams is inconsistent defense, which could be a pivotal role in the game's outcome.

"I think both clubs are a little erratic on defense," Wirtz said. "So either one of us makes a mistake, we'll probably get beat."

"BOTH TEAMS are capable of the one bad inning that could cost them the game," Wirtz said.

Case in point, against Johnny Mac's (16-2) Highland was up by five runs. But poor defense cost them a win.

Tri-City knows that same feeling. In the Triplets first meeting with Highland, the team surrendered seven unearned runs in a losing effort.

"We have given up a lot of unearned runs with errors, especially in the infield," Coakley said.

The manager hopes the infield will solidify with the return of Matt Roe (shortstop). John Konkovich, a steady starter, is expected to start a second base.

"I believe our defense will hold up," Coakley said.

WHATEVER HAPPENS, both managers feel the game will be a close one.

"I think this will be a close game, maybe decided by two or three runs," Wirtz said.

And, Coakley hopes his Triplets will have the advantage.

"There is a saying that it's tough to beat a team three times in one season. I hope it's true for us."

Bernstein, a winner of seven International Hot Rod Association Pro Funny National event titles, will get his first shot at qualifying for the Gateway event on Friday, July 19 at 5 p.m.

Pulde, is riding a hot streak of three consecutive IHRA national event wins. His Miller Warriors Butek Rega Funny Car entry collected over $85,000 thus far this season and currently has an 800 point lead in the battle for the Winston Cup championship, worth an additional $75,000.

"We really didn't expect to be in this good of shape," Pulde said after his most recent win, the Motorcraft Northern Nationals.

LUNGING STOP. Tri-City second baseman John Konkovich makes this catch during an earlier game this season against Bethalto. Backing up Konkovich is shortstop Matt Roe. Defense, especially the middle of the infield, will be a critical part of the game when Tri-City meets Highland Saturday in the North Division double elimination tournament.

Big racing names to highlight SLIR Gateway Nationals

FAIRMONT CITY — Kenny Bernstein, Tom McEwen, Don Prudhomme, Dale Pulde, Mark

Oswald and Bruce Allen highlight the big-name field of Funny Car and Pro Stock drivers scheduled to compete in the inaugural Kangaroo Gateway Nationals, July 19-21 at the St. Louis International Raceway, just five minutes from Granite City on Route 203.

Racing gets underway Friday, July 19 with professional qualifying at 5 p.m. Qualifying continues Saturday, July 20 at 2 and 6 p.m. The Pro Stock's Night of Fire begins at 9 p.m. Final eliminations begin at noon, Sunday, July 21.

Advance tickets for this International Hot Rod Association (IHRA) event can be purchased at the 61 St. Louis area Clark car stations at a $5 savings off the $20 race-day price.

THE KANGAROOS Gateway Nationals will carry a purse with prize money in excess of $400,000. The Pro Funny Car winner will collect $12,000 plus contingencies and the Pro Stock champion will earn $3,000 plus contingencies.

For the uninitiated, Pro Funny Car races can be shocking even to the most experienced fans. It's a high-speed, high-risk sport. Don "The Snake" Prudhomme, of Granada Hills, Calif., set an IHRA national record of 260 miles per hour at the end of his quarter-mile run. It stands as the fastest speed ever attained in the sport of drag racing.

Dale Pulde currently leads the Pro Funny Car division in the IHRA with Bruce Allen leading the Pro Stock division. Allen drives for the team that formerly was led by two-time IHRA Winston World Champion Lee Shepherd.

Shepherd was killed in February of this year while on a test run. Allen also won the Pro Stock event at the rival National Hot Rod Association (NHRA) Budweiser Summer Nationals in Englishtown, N.J. last weekend.

ANOTHER SERIOUS threat in the Kangaroo Gateway Nationals will be Kenny Bernstein, driver of the Budweiser King Funny Car. Bernstein currently leads the rival NHRA circuit with a string of four victories in a row.

Bernstein is currently in fourth place in the IHRA standings. In part due to a violent blow-up explosion that demolished the Budweiser King Motorcraft Ford Tempo body, at the race in Milan, Mich., July 6.

In addition to the Kangaroos Gateway Nationals prize money, drivers are competing for year-end point fund money of $225,000 posted by R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. The Pro Funny Car champion will collect a $75,000 bonus and the Pro Stock champ a $25,000 bonus at the end of the season.

Bernstein, a winner of seven International Hot Rod Association Pro Funny National event titles, will get his first shot at qualifying for the Gateway event on Friday, July 19 at 5 p.m.

Pulde, is riding a hot streak of three consecutive IHRA national event wins. His Miller Warriors Butek Rega Funny Car entry collected over $85,000 thus far this season and currently has an 800 point lead in the battle for the Winston Cup championship, worth an additional $75,000.

Local YMCA golf tourney is success

GRANITE CITY — The Third Annual Tri-City Area YMCA Golf Classic was held Saturday, June 15, at Arlington Golf Course in Granite City. A total of 72 golfers participated in the four-person scramble event. A total of 18 teams were divided into two flights, and trophies and prizes were awarded to the first place finishers in each flight.

The first place team in the Championship Flight was Jack Lee, Kevin Spooner, Bill Noser and B. Benben.

Their team shot an outstanding nine under par for the tournament.

First place in the "A" Flight went to Ralph Martino, L. Phillips, R. Harbron and J. Johnson, who shot a three under par 69.

Prizes were also awarded to individuals for closest tee shot to each par three hole and to the longest drives on holes 7 and 15.

A highlight of the tournament was the participation of Joe Bostic and Terry Stieve of the St. Louis Football Cardinals, and Joe Shipley, former major league pitcher for the San Francisco Giants. Mayor Von Dee Cruse awarded the key to the city to Bostic for his outstanding and unselfish service to youth.

Over seventy area businesses donated prizes, gifts and awards for the tournament. Especially generous was Anheuser-Busch, Inc., who through their Sports Marketing Department, donated over $1,000 in merchandise.

Also helping out were nine green sponsors and 18 tee sponsors. Green sponsors were Pantera's Pizza (Collinsville), Edwardsville and Fairview Heights, Calvo and Guzzardo, Attorneys at Law, McDonalds Restaurants, General Motors Corporation, Truck and Bus Group, Kroger, Dr. Hector Zavallos, Car-X Muffler Shop, Venture and Dr. Riaz Naseer.

Tee sponsors were DEMCO Democratic Elected Madison County Officials, Barnett's Termite & Pest Control, Ironworkers Local 392, Venice Fire Dept., Schermer's Supermarket, Morris B. Chapman and Associates, LTD., Attorneys at Law, Lueders, Robertson and Konzen, Attorneys at Law, Lawrence A. Shipley, D.C. LTD. Bricklayers and Allied Craftsmen, Local 65 of Illinois, Madison County Tavern Owners Association.

Mark Goldenberg, Attorney at Law, Nestle Company, Inc., Granite Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc., David P. Maler, General Dentistry, Hopkins and Bilibrey, P.C., Attorneys at Law, C.D. Peters Construction Company.

FOR THE THIRD straight year, Keith Wagner of Wagner Sign Company paid for the materials and prepared the green and tee sponsorship signs. Larry Calvo and Mark Goldenberg recruited the sponsors.

Gregg Stevens of Strange Graphics donated his time and equipment to videotape the tournament. Charlie Logas of Logas and Associates Advertising Public Relations Company performed the play-by-play on the tape, which is available from Stevens at a cost of $25.

The success of the tournament would not have been possible without the hard work of committee chairman Mike Bilibrey. Bilibrey also expressed his thanks to committee members Al Hudzik, Jack Lee, Tom Fields, Jim Miller, Paul Sodko and James Gavin.

Sports Of All Sorts
It was a trip to remember

By AL BARNES
For the Press-Record

In the sports news lately has been that the University of Illinois football team will have a refurbished place to play in come this next fall.

Things have gone so very, very good for the Fighting Illini since coach Mike White took over that it was felt that the venerable, but old and decaying Memorial Stadium needed a "face lift." So, this autumn the charges of Coach White will play their home games in a multi-million dollar physical plant which has undergone plastic surgery.

Those Illini fans who have regularly attended the Big 10 Conference games up at Champaign-Urbana, in depressingly smaller numbers until White arrived on the scene, it must be admitted, will hardly recognize the old place.

When opened in the fall of 1924 with the Illini facing the awesome Wolverines of Michigan, the odds on favorite to win the Western Conference that year, those self-same fans, this writer included, will remember still with wonderment the great show that Harold (Red) Grange put on for that dedication day audience.

All he did, that still legend now living down in Florida and a native of Wheaton, Ill., was to score a touchdown the first five possession that the Illini had and, in the process completely knock the odds-makers for a loop.

And, that was in the first half. Later on, he passed for another touchdown and then ran over the goal line for the game's final TD.

So, in 1933, which was less than nine years after its dedication, Memorial Stadium was in real bad shape.

In fact, it was in such a bad condition that when the U.S. Military Academy with the famous Red Cage played the Orange and Blue late in '33, I and my group of friends from Cairo were almost drowned by a waterfall caused by a broken down sprout.

Me and Ray O. (Red) Ridenhower, John Langen, one of the Elias Academy, Paul Diefenbacher and the driver, John Hayes, who was a dead-ringer for Paul Whitman, drove up for the Army vs. Illini game with the Knights of the Hudson odds-on favorites.

It rained all night Friday and most of the forenoon of the game, so the stadium was water-logged and nearly overflowing.

Along about the middle of the third period, it did overflow with those sitting directly below in the normally very good — and expensive — seats under the overhead were suddenly drenched to their skins when the rain started to water-fall down on us huddled there in their seats. The down-spouts throughout the stadium, almost in unison, began to pour down on us. And soaking us, I mean, to the skin.

It was a miserable drive back down to Cairo with our clothes soggy and all, plus the jam-packed traffic, bumper-to-bumper at least south (before interstates, you know) to Decatur. Plus, losing to the Cadets, 6-0.

After stopping for dinner at Pima, we were running late — for Hayes, who was distributor for the Sunday papers in Cairo — and he was pushing, really pushing his Ford Model A to its upmost when the accident happened.

I was sitting, rather jammed, in the back seat and all but the driver were napping. Just before it happened, I awoke and saw the dog, a beautiful bird dog dash across the paved road at the end of a bridge. There was nothing Hayes could do but hit the dog. And he did, the front end killing him instantly and he never knew what hit him.

The front fender was turned down, sharply to puncture the tire and the car went head-over-head, for five terrifying times. All I can remember was my head hitting the top of the auto as the machine pounded off and down a 12 to 12 foot embankment and threw me through the top. When, I came to I was pinned under the car with my face in the water.

The water had apparently revived me. I could hear the fellows talking to each other. Dimly, I could hear Langen ask: "Where in the devil is Barnes?"

Finally, I got their attention and they combined to lift the auto off my aching back.

A short while afterwards, up drives an ambulance and out jumps the driver and little Red Ridenhower who was carrying a flash-light.

I don't know how long I was lying unconscious under the car but Red had ran in the dark across about five miles to Ullin to get help for us.

And, you can realize how mad he was when he flashed the light into my face and realized that it was me, who when he went for help had thought that I was either dead, or seriously injured.

"My God," he snapped, "You are alive." He swore until the time he died he didn't mean it that way, the way it sounded.

We were all bruised and aching from the accident for several days afterwards.

And, now it is a real pleasure to know that the Illini's stadium will be all fixed up and ready to go for the 1985 season. And, another Big 10 championship.

However, the cat proves herself to be valuable by winning a castle, a fortune and a princess for her master. She also rides the kingdom of an evil ogre.

Featured in the cast are Tim

Brewer, Missy Kozayk, Adam Schneider, Nicole Schneider, Anissa Fields, Jennifer Little, Michael Moore, Nathan Fields, Travis Terrell, Cheryl Schmidt and John Melford, who is directing the show.

Curtain time is 1 p.m. for both performances. Tickets are $1 and can be purchased at the door or in advance from any cast member. Both performances will be at the Star Theater, 1917 State St.

Auxiliary thanked for contributions

At a semi-monthly Eagles Auxiliary meeting, presided over by President Vincenc Zerlan, the roll call of officers was given by Secretary Pro Tem Helen Lipchik, and correspondence and bills were read.

A letter was received from Lewis H. Reed, Eagles Art Ehrmann Cancer Fund Campaign director, thanking the auxiliary for its gift to the Cancer Fund. The letter read, "Through your contributions to this worthwhile cause, great strides are now being made in the field of cancer research."

A letter was received from Michael Gaffney, Eagles Jimmy Durante Crippled Children's Fund chairman. The letter read, "We appreciate your help to our all-Eagle program, which is doing so much to make life a lot more worth living for handicapped children."

Carol Hill, 1984-85 auxiliary president, was escorted to the altar by Conducting Kathy Barnhart and the president presented her with a certificate from Leo Lentsch, Eagles membership director, for tripling the auxiliary membership quota during her year. The auxiliary qualifies for quota honors.

Linda Bone Clayton, membership chairman for the Eagle year of 1984-85, also was escorted to the altar, where she was presented with a pin for outstanding quota achievement.

Six applications for membership were presented and turned over to the new investigating committee, Mickey Patton and Ruth Jorgenson. The secretary and Treasurer Virginia McCall gave reports and closing prayer was given by Chaplain Yvonne Gray.

Prizes were awarded to Kathy Barnhart and Yvonne Gray.

Refreshments were served by Florence Stokes and Cindy Giotfely.

Flower show slated Saturday

Members of Cloverview Garden Club were entertained by Louise Sedlack at Ervay's Restaurant with a dessert luncheon served to the following: Mesdames Kenneth Brokaw, Clarence Etheridge, Charles Gandoria, B.C. O'Neill, Albert Taylor, George Stearns and Ray Williamson.

President Williamson opened the program, leading the collect by all.

Announcement was made of the Standard Flower Show to be presented by District Five Garden Clubs of Illinois. The theme will be "Summer Scenario" and it is to be held July 20 from 2 to 8 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, 201 E. Church St., Collinsville. All clubs in the district will participate.

A study, "No-Puss Flowers," on "color where you want it in the shade," was given by Pres. Williamson.

She explained how to "Grow Creative," how to pack pots and planters with a crazy-quilt mixture of annual flowers and use them to brighten hard-to-plant areas of landscape.

The program, given by O'Neill, was about the Lincoln Memorial Garden.

She said more than 50 years have passed since T.J. Knudson, a member of the State Board of the Garden Clubs of Illinois and the Springfield Garden Club, approached the idea of establishing a garden which would be planted as a living memorial to Abraham Lincoln.

When city officials encouraged her, she presented the idea to the board of The Garden Clubs of Illinois. Responsibility for the project was accepted by the state board and the garden was under way.

Knudson contacted Jens Jensen, recognized as one of the nation's top landscape artists, to design the garden. Not only did he agree to accept the task, but did so without fee. He considered the request to design a memorial to Lincoln one of the greatest honors of his life.

"All the clubs have made a donation for the upkeep of the memorial throughout the years as one of their many projects."

For the exhibit, on display was an "impatient plant," brought by Williamson.

The Aug. 13 meeting will be the 30th anniversary of Cloverview Garden Club. It will be a potluck luncheon at the Brown Recreation Center at 11 a.m. All clubs in the district are being invited.

The program, "Birds in your back yard," will be given by Dr. J. McCall, a Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville professor and a member of the St. Louis Audubon Society.

At 2 p.m., a flower arranging program will be given by Mrs. Robert Ray, District Five vice chairman, of Wood River.

CAN THIS BE A POPSICLE? Michael Waltemate of Granite City studies a piece of artwork he concocted from clay at an art workshop held recently at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. GCC graduate says learning never stops Chris Hinterser of Granite City believes learning doesn't stop when a student leaves school.

Hinterser, who graduated from Belleville Area College's Granite City Center this spring with an associate of applied science degree in accounting, is working at S.P. Richards, a supply warehouse in St. Louis.

"It's really nice," Hinterser said. "I had a $3.35 an hour job working 20 to 30 hours a week nights and Saturdays."

"Now, I'm making considerably more, working over 40 hours per week," he said.

Another thing he likes about his job is having weekends off. "To tell the truth, it's great not having to get up every Saturday and have to go to work," he said.

At S.P. Richards, Hinterser is involved in many phases of office work, he considers it a learning experience.

"I'm learning from the ground up," he said. "It's making me more mature. You just have to continue learning, you can't shut yourself off from knowledge."

The company wants to train him

Administration of Justice (AOJ) classes at Belleville Area College's (BAC) Granite City Campus (GCC) prepare students to deal with the stress they will experience in their profession.

Students learn practical police procedures. They learn communication skills that help them understand themselves, their colleagues and the people they will deal with on the streets and in the courts.

Students starting a career in administration of justice can obtain a 64-credit-hour associate of applied science degree at GCC.

Dr. William Allen, coordinator of BAC's AOJ and Security Administration programs, said the complete AOJ program is now offered at GCC. That includes all required courses and most electives.

In the future, GCC plans to offer the complete Security Administration program, he said.

Dr. Harold Johnson, GCC's director of instruction and former director of BAC's Police Academy, said the AOJ courses are directed toward placement.

"Our AOJ program is occupational," Johnson said. "It's structured to prepare students and women for work in the administration of justice."

Allen said the program is also designed to prepare students to transfer to four-year colleges and universities. Almost half of the graduates of the program continue their education and receive advanced degrees, he said.

Johnson said AOJ instructors are picked for their academic credentials, but even more important is their experience in the criminal-justice system.

"We use local, experienced police officers who are familiar with the local criminal justice system," he said. "They help students upgrade themselves so they can find jobs. They teach them practical skills and help them understand the local system."

Allen agreed the instructors are well qualified.

"Everybody that teaches AOJ for BAC has a minimum of three years experience on the street, as a defense attorney or in another area of the criminal-justice system," he said. "They all have advanced degrees and experience in the field."

GCC instructors include Ron Selph, a Granite City police officer.

Forty-nine individuals enrolled in the AOJ program at GCC in fall 1984. They had an opportunity to participate in the college's AOJ internship program. Interns have worked for agencies such as the Illinois State Police, the Illinois Department of Criminal Investigation and the Madison County Probation Department.

AJO staff help students find jobs by informing them of local and national job openings.

GCC's AOJ students are trained to meet community needs, Johnson said.

"At GCC, we're very concerned about meeting the needs of the community," Johnson said. "We take pride in turning out a student who is well-rounded in the criminal-justice system."

"Although I'm not a policeman now, I feel I am helping the criminal-justice system," he said. "I am part of a system that is made of administrators, teachers and support people creating a learning environment."

Johnson is a graduate of the St. Louis Metropolitan Police Academy. Before he came to BAC, he worked in the patrol and detective divisions of the St. Louis Metropolitan Police Department.

He recently facilitated a seminar for police recruits at the St. Louis Metropolitan Police Academy entitled "Stress." The 35 recruits were completing 16 weeks of training. The seminar covered human experiences they will encounter on the job.

"These recruits need to know what to expect before coming into the force," Johnson said. "They need to hear how stress on the job is going to affect them."

"I feel close to these young guys,"

he said. "After nine years of working in a high crime area in North St. Louis, I know what they and their families will be going through."

"These are young policemen who have no idea what they are going out to face," he said. "The police profession has one of the highest percentages of divorces, suicides, alcoholism and psychosomatic disorders of any profession."

"The recruits will have to deal with the justice system," he said. "The three component parts—courts, corrections and police—are not interconnected as smoothly as people are led to believe. They have to deal with a system in which one part does not cooperate with other parts," Johnson said.

"A police officer has to know about the law. He must educate himself to deal with the court system."

He said there is a fourth component to the system—the community.

"Community involvement with the system would help get rid of much stress for the officers," he said.

SIU at Edwardsville

A NEW CONTRACTOR has been named for the general construction work involved in modifying two parking lots at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The SIU Board of Trustees awarded a contract Thursday to C.D. Peters Construction Co., Granite City, in the amount of $249,945.

University officers explained that the low bidder on the project, Kanaadski Excavating and Grading Co., Inc., Granite City, to whom the contract had been awarded, refused to accept the purchase order for the contract. Peters was the next lowest bidder and indicated a willingness to accept the contract.

The project includes a new access road from Circle Drive to service Lots A and D and improve traffic flow, improved pedestrian walkways from the core buildings to the Vadalabene Center, and installation of additional high mount lighting in the lots. Parking will be increased by 76 spaces in Lots A and D.

THE NEARLY COMPLETED plans and specifications for the construction of a child care center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were approved Thursday by the SIU Board of Trustees. The board also authorized the executive committee of the board to award contracts in connection with the project.

The facility will be built in the area south of the campus water tower and north of Circle Drive. The 5,000-square-foot facility will have an adjacent 7,500-square-foot play yard, allowing 100 or more children to receive care.

DESIGNATION OF THE THIRD Monday in January as a paid holiday in honor of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., was approved Thursday by the Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees. The King holiday was established by federal law, to be effective in 1986.

A FEW SPACES remaining for a travel study course at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, beginning Aug. 12 and extending through Aug. 23. The course, Great Western Trails, will include a 12-day western tour. Students enrolling in the course will follow George Bonwick and Santa Fe trails, discovering markers, monuments and ruins, and visiting historic sites used by early settlers in their trek westward.

Registration for the trip is $285, which includes transportation and meals. Personal expenses are extra. Tuition for those wishing academic credit is $127.50. Additional information may be obtained by calling 1-692-3210.

MEMBERS OF THE SLAVIC and East European Friends of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will hold their annual summer picnic on Sunday, July 21, at the Tower Lake Recreation Area, located on the university campus.

Festivities will begin at noon and continue until 6 p.m. Several dance groups will entertain the group during the afternoon. Swimming and boating facilities will also be available. Slavic and American foods will be available at the picnic ground, including slush-kabobs, roast lamb and Polish sausage.

THE CENTER FOR MANAGEMENT Studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a seminar on marketing. The one-day seminar is scheduled July 26 at the Henry VIII Inn and Lodge, 4960 N. Lindbergh Blvd., St. Louis. Sessions will be from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Topics to be considered will include development of an annual marketing plan, growth share analysis, experience curves, conducting the marketing audit, strategic trade-offs, delegating authority, setting marketing goals and performance measurement. Additional information may be obtained by calling 1-692-3668.

Self-insurance program for SIU OK'd

Establishment of a self-insurance program for the Southern Illinois University System has been authorized by the SIU Board of Trustees.

In action Thursday, the board approved creation of a reserve fund in the university treasury to pay claims arising under the board's "indemnification policy" or other claims not covered by insurance.

System officers said the self-insurance option appears not only feasible but also cost effective. In the past five years, losses paid or reserved by insurers on behalf of SIU totaled $1.5 million, an average of $250,000 per year.

During this period, SIU paid an average of $460,000 per year for insurance coverage. The highest premium paid was approximately $486,000 in Fiscal Year 1984. The lowest, in FY-81, was slightly over $400,000.

The decision to establish a self-insurance program came after "herculean" efforts by system officers to obtain satisfactory insurance coverage at affordable costs, according to Chancellor Kenneth A. Shaw.

In January, the university was informed that its comprehensive all-risk insurance policy would not be renewed following the close of FY-85 (June 30). At a bid opening on May 2, the premiums quoted for reduced coverage ranged upwards of eight times the amount paid in FY-85.

Officers said efforts were undertaken to rebid the insurance package, utilizing a sole brokerage agency in an effort to find less expensive and more complete insurance coverage. At a June 21 bid opening, minimally adequate insurance coverage was found to be available at a premium of $2.7 million, nearly six times the amount paid in FY-85, Shaw said.

Chancellor Shaw said a new law approved by the legislature empowers the board of trustees to engage in a self-insurance program. He said in addition to savings, a number of other advantages are anticipated, including personal supervision of claims handling and settlement, and greater control over risk management.

He said protection against potential liabilities in excess of funds held in reserve will be provided through other university resources or the purchase of insurance coverage for amounts in excess of self-insurance reserve funds.

SIU approves guidelines for 1987

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees approved guidelines necessary for development of the Fiscal Year 1987 Resource Allocation and Management Program for submission to the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

The guidelines include increases of: 13 to 16 percent for salaries, five percent for general price items, 12 percent for telecommunications, three to 11.5 percent for utilities, and 10 to 12 percent for library materials. The plan also specifies projected funding needed to operate and maintain new space: $222,200 for SIU at Edwardsville, $223,300 for SIU at Carbondale, and $328,300 for the School of Medicine.

The proposed operating budget would result in approximately a 15.5 percent increase over the FY-86 base, which was projected at $189.5 million for the SIU System.

Applying the decision rules would result in a budget request for new operating funds for SIUE of $7.9 million, or an increase of 14.74 percent; for SIUC of $21.1 million, or 15.7 percent; and for the System Office of $304,200, or 19.7 percent.

The guidelines were developed concurrently with university plans for new and expanded and improved programs and other items.

The widest variance in projected needs came in the utilities area, where the proposed percentages of increase reflect the different mix of energy sources: 11.5 percent for SIUE, eight percent for the School of Medicine, and three percent for SIUC.

University officers said adequate salary increases for faculty and staff would continue to be the top priority.

The proposed salary increase is 13 percent for SIU employees, except faculty at Carbondale and civil ser-vise employees at the School of Medicine, with the guidelines recommending that both groups receive 16 percent increases.

Chancellor Kenneth A. Shaw said the guidelines "should not give false hope to our university colleagues." He explained: "Success in obtaining this level of funding would require some combination of an increase in taxes, an improvement in the economy greater than has been seen thus far, and an increase in higher education's share of existing state funds."

Shaw added, "On this point, it should be noted that over the past two years, our share of funds has increased."

The final RAMP request for the SIU System is expected to be submitted to the Illinois Board of Higher Education at the September meeting of the trustees, on the Edwardsville campus.
